

WATERTON HISTORICAL BUILDINGS

“Larkspur Coffee House”
110 Waterton Avenue

#4 on the History Walking Tour

If you are following the walking tour, you are now looking at Waterton’s oldest original restaurant. Built by Oland and Scott Construction, who also built the Prince of Wales and many other places, it was sold in 1924 to Mabel and Nahor Dilatush. They would also build the Stanley Hotel and the building now known as My Sister’s Closet. With the Waterton Dance Pavilion right across the street for decades, the very popular Tourist Café kept late hours to keep the party going!

BUILT: 1922

BUILDERS: Oland & Scott Construction

OF NOTE: The Tourist Café would stay open in July and August to 3 am in the 1930’s, and round the clock in the 1950’s.

Photos of the Waterton Dance Pavilion (built 1926, burned down 1938, replaced by the current Thirsty Bear/ Waterton Convention Center):

Glenbow Archives NA-3910-100

