

Deb Whitney #3, From the rose colored goggles series, 2022, Appropriated photo transfer of a female soldier, embroidery thread and a fragment of a pink receiving blanket, 12 x 18 inches

October 14 - December 3

The Morphing Medium: Photographic Books, Installations, Alternative Process and Ephemera

Photography is the fastest transmuting medium. Because it's linked to science and technology there is always something new. Right now some photographic artists are looking backward and incorporating antique and alternative processes while others are looking forward to the place where photography meets other mediums like weaving, painting, sculpture, digital art and film to name a few. This exhibit will take us on a well crafted adventure where we'll look forward and backward simultaneously. DF
