This beautiful autumn wedding, hosted at The Lodge at Whitefish Lake, will draw you into the warm, joyful, and elegant event feelings we all imagine when envisioning a fall wedding in the mountains.

Sophie and Blake first met at the Nékter Juice Bar in Scottsdale, AZ, in 2015. It was a typical sunny day in the desert, so Sophie decided to get herself a refreshing smoothie. Blake was working behind the counter when Sophie walked in and their eyes met, igniting a romance that changed their lives.

Five years later, while experiencing a romantic dog sled ride through the snowy hills of Montana, Blake bent down on one knee before Sophie and proposed they marry. Anyone that has met Sophie knows she's a lover of all animals, so when she immediately replied with an emphatic "YES!" it was serendipitous and perfect to have the sled dogs joyously howling around them.

The couple moved to Whitefish in 2018 and quickly fell in love with the quaint mountain town. Of course, they wanted their family and friends to have the opportunity to experience their beloved community and explore the beauty of Montana. That is one of the many reasons they picked The Lodge at Whitefish Lake to host their wedding. It provided the perfect balance of stunning views in every direction, along with a variety of well-appointed accommodations, excellent dining, and luxurious amenities for their friends and family.

Since they had guests traveling from near and far, Sophie & Blake chose a fall date to avoid the peak summer season and allow guests better access to Glacier National Park and the area's activities and services. Realizing that wood boat cruises on Whitefish Lake are available only thru mid-September, the couple opted to do a pre-wedding dress-up date and photo shoot to capture wedding images aboard the Lodge's Laurie Jo Windsor Craft Day Cruiser. Some of their favorite photos were taken on this classic wooden cruising boat as they sailed around Whitefish Lake with the sun setting behind them.

On September 24th, 2022, Sophie's dream wedding became a reality when surrounded by loved ones, she walked down the grassy aisle on the waterfront of The Lodge at Whitefish Lake and exchanged vows with Blake. May they live happily ever after!
